

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for communicating in a discrete multitone system includes a transmitting station and a receiving station. The transmitting station transmits redundant sets of data on each of a number of different tones. The receiving station receives the redundant sets of data 5 and identifies the data represented by the redundant sets of data using a voting scheme, such as a majority voting scheme.